

ANNOUNCEMENT AND CALL FOR PARTICIPATION

8th International Summerschool on Literacy Research

Saturday, August 25 – Thursday, August 30, 2018

Conveners: Ludo Verhoeven & Eliane Segers

Supported by the Society for the Scientific Study of Reading

Objective

After successful previous meetings, this seventh one-week meeting in 2018 will again bring together researchers in the field of literacy (focus on reading, spelling) in order to exchange and expand knowledge of research in the field. The intention is to give young researchers a chance to meet several leading senior researchers and to extensively discuss the participants' research projects. Topics may include but are not limited to: basic cognitive representations and processes in text comprehension, reading acquisition, skilled reading, spelling, writing, individual differences, neural processes, genetic factors, connections between spoken and written language, and reading difficulties. During the summer school, senior researchers present overviews on main areas of literacy research. Junior participants are required to present their ongoing research during the summer school and to attend all sessions during the week. Pending sufficient interest and quality, there will also be the opportunity to submit a paper to a special issue of an international journal immediately after the summer school.

Participants

The summer school is limited to a maximum of 40 participants. Advanced PhD students and recent postdocs from all over the world are invited to apply for participation. In addition to the conveners (Radboud University), other senior researchers are: Kate Cain (Lancaster University), Peter de Jong (University of Amsterdam), Kate Nation (University of Oxford), Charles Perfetti (University of Pittsburgh), Kenneth Pugh (Haskins Laboratories), and Linda Siegel (University of British Columbia).

Location and costs

The summer school will be located at a nice 4-star beach resort hotel in Egmond aan Zee, an old fishermen village not far from Amsterdam. The costs for full boarding (2pp per room) are €765 for the entire school period, including transport Amsterdam to / from the meeting site.

Application

Advanced graduate (PhD) students and postdocs are invited to apply for participation by sending a proposal for a presentation of their recent or ongoing research no later than February 15 2018. Proposals will be reviewed before April 15. Students should locally apply for funding. Each proposal (2 pages at maximum altogether) should include: (a) Name, institution, address, telephone, and e-mail address, the name and e-mail address of the supervisor, and also guarantee of funding. (b) A summary of your research to be presented: this summary should include background, theoretical framework, questions, rationale, method, results, conclusions and implications.

Key dates

February 15:	Deadline for application
April 15:	Notification of acceptance
August 25:	Opening of Summer School
August 30:	Closing of Summer School
October 1:	Submission of papers for publication (optional)

Mailing address

Send applications or requests for further information to: literacysummerschool@gmail.com